Parrish/Purcell Budget Items

- A. Conferences and meetings. $500,000, part of which is reserved for contingencies.

The designated meetings are:

- Royal Institution [40,000] 4/14/93
- Royal College of Physicians [120,000] 10/93 Vol.
- Ankara meeting [85,000] 11/93
- Madrid meeting [85,000] 5/93
- X Ukraine/Russia/Roumania meeting [65,000]
- Egyptian workplace meeting [70,000]

The individual meeting numbers are rough estimates, and I would hope that monies could if appropriate be shifted within the category. In other words, if one meeting proves more expensive and another less, I hope we can use the savings from the latter to support the former, provided always that the overall totals are not exceeded. I have linked the Ukraine/Russia/Roumania meetings because we need to be certain which of them are realistic and meaningful. In those cases, I propose that (1) we do whichever meetings seem most substantive and (2) if it turns out to be feasible to do two of them (and two seem worthwhile) at a total cost not exceeding $65,000, we should do so.

- B. Standards monitoring, development and activities to encourage the adoption of appropriate standards.
$200,000, subject to further discussion.
- C. Attendance at, and monitoring of, third-party conferences.
$100,000.
- D. Retainer agreements. $175,000, subject to further specifications and discussions.
